Student Learning Outcome(s) Assessed:
SLO #6: Locate, assess, and apply online resources to create learning experiences.

Description of the Signature Assignment
For this assignment candidates write a minimum of (1000 words) to evaluate a web site. It should be written so as to give the reader a comprehensive overview of the design, the content, and the contribution of the website to the field.

Directions for Students
Your assessment of the quality of the website should be based on instructional design principles that you learned in this course and other courses. Use the following criteria to evaluate the website. You should explain how each of the following criteria is applied in the website or how any of the following criteria is not applicable to this particular website. However, you should AVOID making a checklist or using direct quotes from the following list in your qualitative evaluation.

Content:
1. The content is accurate, complete, and reliable.
2. The information in this website is current, updated and well maintained.
3. The purpose and target audience for the website is clear.
4. The website supports content standards.
5. The website support information and digital literacy.
6. This website is in a logical order and it was easy to follow along.
7. The content is broken into bite-size (smaller chunks) segments.
8. The website is limited to providing information and knowledge rather than deep understanding.
9. The website improves your critical thinking and other thinking skills.
10. This website challenges learners to think, reflect, discuss, hypothesize, compare, classify, etc.
11. This website will help you to do better on your job.

Authorship:
1. The author is authoritative and credible.
2. The author(s) of the web is visible (i.e., tell you something about themselves, or put their photo, voice, video, or provide some info about them).
Visual elements:
1. Text is legible and easy to read.
2. Background is subdued and coordinates with text colors and graphics.
3. The pages are attractive and use graphics creatively.
4. There are many pictures, charts, tables, or graphics in this website.
5. The pictures and graphics are mostly decorative.
6. The pictures and graphics really support and facilitate learning.
7. The text and pictures are aligned well. The words are close to corresponding graphics.

Audio:
1. The text is supported or completed by providing some audio clips.
2. The quality of the audio is high. (volume, pitch, tone of voice, crystal clear, lack of noise)
3. The audio clips are mostly decorative or extraneous.
4. The audio clips really support and facilitate learning.
5. The text is read to you. You can hear and read the text simultaneously.
6. The text or audio is in a daily conversational style rather than formal language.
7. You have the option to hear (the audio) instead of reading the text.

Interface and Interactivity:
1. It is easy to find things and to navigate through the website.
2. The format is user friendly (clear scope, easy to understand and use, includes appropriate, clearly labeled links)
3. There is an on-screen coach. (On screen coaches, or learning agents, or pedagogical agents, are on-screen characters who help guide the learning process during an e-learning episode)
4. The on-screen coach is really helpful rather than distracting.
5. The website is ADA-compliant.
6. There are enough practices, exercises, questions to be answered, or “things to think about” in this website.
7. The website provides some options or activities for collaboration, communication with others.
8. There are some interactive elements (game-like activities) in this website.
9. There are some simulations in this website (for example, the modeling of natural systems or human systems or a physical or chemical experiment in which you may change variables or conditions and see the outcomes)
10. This website is quite engaging and interesting.
11. You think this web site motivates students enough to stay on task for a long time.

General:
1. This website is quite unique in terms of goals, content, or design.
2. I would recommend this website to others.
